

Nanōmix Appoints President and CEO

Emeryville, CA (June 1, 2013) - Nanōmix Inc., (Nanōmix), a leading nanotechnology company focused on development of next generation point of care diagnostic tests to enable earlier and more accurate testing in hospital and pre-hospital settings, has appointed David Ludvigson as President and CEO. Garrett Gruener will continue to be actively involved with Nanōmix as the Company's Executive Chairman.

“This leadership transition marks an important point in the development of our Company. David is a proven leader who brings years of commercial experience to Nanōmix”, said Garrett Gruener, Executive Chairman of Nanōmix. “We have made great progress in developing our Point of Care platform and are now ready to begin our drive to commercialization of our initial IVD products.”

Nanōmix has recently begun clinical studies with its critical cardiac diagnostic system for First Responders and Emergency Departments. Nanōmix is also expanding its platform applications to include the development of additional cardiac tests, a sepsis panel and systems for infectious diseases.

Mr. Ludvigson is an entrepreneur with extensive experience as a financial and operating executive. He brings to the role over 35 years of international experience in life sciences and technology companies. Prior to joining Nanōmix as Chief Marketing Officer in 2011, Mr. Ludvigson held leadership positions at IDEC Pharmaceuticals, Matrix Pharmaceutical, Nanogen, and MIPS Computer Systems where he has led numerous new product efforts from concept to market launch.
